The London Times contains a brief account of the celebration of American Independence on the 4th in London, mainly by the members of the American Association, which our Minister, Mr. Dallas, presided and made an appropriate speech, patriotic in its tone, but delicate in its ailusions to the mother country. The room was tastefully decorated with the national flags of England and America, and one of the most conspicuous objects was a fuil-length portrait of her Majesty, from Buckingham palace. Among the earlier toasts were "The President of the United States" and "The Queen," which were received with great enthusiasm. Sympathy was manifested for the struggle now going on in Italy, and confidence was expressed by Mr. Layard that, if the principle of non-intervention was carried out, the Italian people would soon be rauked among the free and independent nations of the world.

MORE BEAUTIES OF THE LAW .- In New York, a case is mentioned of great hardship, arising from a strange system of legal proceedings. A poor man with a family was swindled by two regular ticket swindlers. The perpetrators were bailed, and the victim held in prison to be forthcoming as a witness at a trial fixed for September. The Times truly asks if it is any wonder that swindlers flourish under such state of things as this? "No poor man dare seek the protection of the law against these villains, for he is sure to be thrown into prison, while the men who have robbed him are set free on bail? It is easy enough to excuse this style of doing things, by saying that there are difficulties in the way of any remedy that may be suggested. But there certainly can be no system open to stronger objections than one which imprisons a man for being robbed and sets free the man who has robbed him."

The Bangor Whig states that the company engaged in taking out goods from the wrecked steamer Hungarian obtain from five to six hundred dollars' worth per day. The wreck is full of bodies, some of which can be seen at low water. and the sight is represented as extremely distress-

The New York canals, which, for several years have been a burthen upon the revenues of the State, on account of the enlargement, seem now to give some promise of a return. The increase of tolls for the season of navigation thus far, over last year, has been $300,000.

I suffered from severe costiveness and diarrhæa alternately. My skin was clammy and unhealthy: my eyes and skin often yellow. Occasionally I had a veragious appetite, but generally none at all. A dreadful sen. appetite, but generally none at all A dreadful sensation of oppression on my stomach, with languor and a gloomy sensation of sickness all over, kept me in anguish. You cannot know how much I suffered from an indescribable feeling of distress. The long continuance of this condition, without relief, had worn me out so that I never executed to head long continuance of this condition, without relief, had worn me out so that I never expected to be better; but reading, in the Christian Advocate, of your Sarsaparilla, I commenced taking it, with occasional small doses of your Pills, to regulate the bowels as you direct. From the first, it had more effect upon my disorder than I supposed anything could have. I regained my health rapidly, and now after layer. after eleven weeks, enjoy as good health and strength as any other man. May the "Dispenser of strength as any other man. May all good" shower blessings on you John W. Stort.
